

Sir, the language when it places some restrictions upon banking, it is then the bank shall not do that, and the bank shall not do that; but when they wish to steal from the people the nucleus around which a moneyed oligarchy may be built up in the country, the subject is approached, let me say with all due respect to the committee whose motives I in nowise impugn, in real petit larceny style, aye, with the cringing sycophancy of the degenerate asking alms while filching your purse from your pocket.

The word bank never appears once, not even corporation; that might alarm the people. Association is the magic word that is to remove every objection, and do away with every scruple. Sir, it is a shallow device, and will deceive no one. It reminds me of the celebrated exchequer brought before Congress after John Tyler had vetoed the United States Bank Bill. Mr. Sargeant, the chairman of the committee of Ways and Means, of the House of Representatives, in introducing the bill, announced with great form and ceremony that the word bank could not be found in it; that it was no bank, but simply an exchequer, for the convenience of the government in managing its finances, and where the people might safely make their deposits, in other words, an association for the deposit of gold and silver. Sir, if that exchequer had become a law, we would now have in full operation, a mammoth National Bank, and if the power there granted is incorporated in our Constitution in its present unrestricted state, we may soon look for a mammoth State exchequer, more dangerous to the liberties of the people than any foreign enemy that can approach our shores.

Bank notes are prohibited with great parade, but not a word is said against bank certificates of deposit, with which the country may become flooded, and will be if this section is not stricken out.

Sir, no one familiar with the banking system as it existed in the United States from 1836 to 1840, can have forgotten how the country was flooded with post notes, corporation and individual tickets, and in many instances, certificates of deposit, precisely similar to those which these associations are authorized to issue.

It would be a curious spectacle to exhibit before this convention the various kinds of paper in circulation, as money, during that memorable period. I have seen collected, as a matter of curiosity and amusement, upwards of one hundred, and if I had them here they would be the only argument required to nip this whole system in its bud. The devices to gull and deceive the people were so many and varied, that none could be so blind as not to see that the slightest authority or countenance given in this Constitution, to associations which can assume banking privileges of any kind, will, in times of high speculative excitement, lead to erroneous abuses alike destructive to the happiness and prosperity of the country.

The committee have not even attempted to restrict the power to issue certificates of deposit, thus in effect expressly sanctioning it. In this cunningly devised bill this was no omission or oversight, for the whole scheme bears evidence on its face of having been got up carefully, emasculating the section in the New York Constitution by striking out all that might alarm the members of this body.

It may be said that no danger can result from the passage of this section; that the restrictions upon banking are so great that it will be impossible to abuse the power granted. Believe it not. How do they expect to make money to put the expensive machinery into operation? How is the costly lot in the centre of the city—the fine fire-proof houses—fire-proof vaults—fire-proof safes, to be paid for. The President, Cashier, Teller, Book-keepers, Messengers, &c. &c. to be supported simply upon the per centage charged upon the gold and silver deposit, for you will be gravely told that these associations will charge a per centage upon deposits, and thus make money to sustain themselves. Nothing can be more fallacious. Banks, bankers and merchants the world over, never charge for deposits; in fact they seek them, and in many instances, if the amount is large, pay an interest upon them. My friend and colleague near me, Mr. Hobson, has at times deposited in his commercial establishment, in San Francisco, upwards of one hundred thousand dollars in gold dust, and the gentleman from Monterey, Mr. Dent, says he has had from thirty to forty thousand dollars on deposit, in his store in the mines, and all without expense to the owners. Some difficulties have doubtless heretofore existed, but they are lessening daily, and very soon deposits of gold dust and coin will be eagerly desired by safe and responsible persons.

But the great depository for California must be the Mint, which will no doubt, next winter, be located at some commercial point, probably with branches in the mines. It is the true policy of the United States to coin every dollar of gold taken from the mines, and one of the first acts of Congress in legislating for this country, will be the establishment of a Mint. It is folly to create associations for the deposit of gold and silver in California; the chief, if not the only product of the country is gold in its uncoined state; it is like asking for associations to receive wheat, corn and hogs, in Ohio. The thousands and tens of thousands engaged in gold digging want no such associations. It will benefit those only who live by their wits, and not the hard-handed gold digger, who, by his labor, enriches the country. Let us guard against infringing on the rights of the people, by legalizing the association of capital to war upon labor. This is the only country on the globe where labor has the complete control of capital. Let it remain so, if we wish to be free, independent and prosperous. If there are to be banks in the country, let us have private bankers, who, if they abuse the confidence of the people, can be punished by the law, indicted, and put in the penitentiary. The safe banking we ever had in the United States was that of Stephen Girard. Who ever lost a dollar by depositing with him? While thousands were beggared by the bankruptcy of the United States Bank, look at the great bankers of Europe, the Rothschilds, the Baring's, the Brown's, and others who control the finances of the world—do they ask for the privilege of corporate powers to receive on deposit gold and silver? By why say more? we certainly cannot retrograde on this subject. States may continue to tolerate the system of banking from necessity; it is so mixed with their systems of government, they cannot eradicate it without danger to the body politic; but no new country should, for a moment, entertain the proposition of incorporating it in her fundamental law; it would be folly and madness to do so. The plea of necessity will not avail. Look at Havana, with a commerce of millions, annually, that never has had a bank, or paper money. Look at New Orleans, the largest exporting city of the Union, where banks are prohibited in the State Constitution, and as the charters of those now in existence expire, the system will be eradicated forever. Look at the exchanges of the world carried on by private individuals, and can any man have the hardihood to say we want such associations in this country, as this section of the bill tolerates? I hope not. Sir, I have seen our countrymen as wild on the subject of banking, as they now are about our gold mines. I have seen the people going by thousands to get loans from the banks, as they are now rushing to our banks of gold. Misery, ruin and distraction to the citizens, and prostration of the public credit follows the banking era of 1834, '5, '6 and '7. The private wealth and public prosperity which it was predicted would result from the system, like dead sea fruit burned to ashes on the lips, while our banks if left unrestricted by improper legislation, will yield a rich reward to the laborer for his toil, and ensure to the country a permanent prosperity.

SAN FRANCISCO.

Tuesday, October 9, 1849.

"And if we may express a wish for the result of the approaching election of Senators and Representatives, it is that California will send men 'who have grown with her growth,' who have linked their fortunes with hers, are watchful of her interest, and who are endowed with the will and ability to point out for her the position among the States of the Confederacy, to which by wisdom, might and wealth, she is eminently entitled."

The above is from the "ALTA CALIFORNIA" of October 4th. We are unable to divine the meaning of the words we have italicized. It is but yesterday that California was added to the Union. By reference to dates, it will be found that Col. Mason's official letter announcing the discovery of the gold regions, the only information which the people of the United States would credit, is dated Aug. 17, 1848. Adding the time of its transmission to the States, a year can hardly have elapsed since the emigration to this territory commenced. Who then are these extraordinary men who have grown with the growth of California? The birth of Orion, (and his nativity was most remarkable) does not exceed theirs. And we venture to affirm that among the many highly respectable gentlemen who are named as suitable candidates for the offices alluded to, there is scarce one who has lived a year in California. Were we disposed to be factious, we would willingly (being ourselves a recent arrival) join issue with any advocate of such a principle. More than twenty thousand emigrants, who have "linked their fortunes with California," have arrived since 1st May. Crowds are on their way, all of whom become citizens of California, and entitled to vote the moment they set foot upon her soil. But we deprecate the existence of such a spirit; it is contrary to the genius of our institutions. Let us therefore "nip it in the bud" and meet each other as fellow-citizens, in a spirit of forbearance and conciliation, and with the unanimous determination to forward the best interests of our adopted country. Let us select as our representatives, the wise and the good, without reference to their politics in the States, or the date of their arrival here. We hesitate not to affirm that such is the sentiment of the electors; and that if, the question be referred to them, their answer will be that of the master of the vineyard, (in a similar case) to his discontented laborers, "Friend, I do thee no wrong; didst thou not agree with me for a penny? Take that thine is, and go thy way. I will give unto this lost, even as unto thee."

BRIGHT PROSPECTS AHEAD.—By the following articles which we clip from the Philadelphia Bulletin, a paper received from the Post Office to-day, it will be seen that California is soon to be favored with an arrival of female adventurers under the care and guardianship of "Mrs. Farnham, the social missionary to California," who will probably offer her assortment of goods in market, by auction or otherwise, as soon after the arrival as the lots can be assorted and the necessary arrangements made. The ship "Angelique," remember, is the name of the ship thus destined to immortality—therefore, let unmarried men keep a sharp look out for the arrival of the "Angelique." She will probably arrive here "about these days"—due notice of which will of course be made by order of "Mrs. Farnham" in the ordinary manner of announcing important arrivals—viz: the discharge of cannon.

WOMEN IN CALIFORNIA.—In a few days, Mrs. Farnham, the social missionary to California, will depart to the distant territory with her band of young women. This enterprise may be regarded as one peculiar to the spirit of this 19th century; and in its remote effects, it will probably exercise almost as great an influence on California as the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth. All new settlements, suddenly populated, are in danger of becoming too rude in manners, if not too demoralized in habits; and the only preventive of this, is the presence of a sufficient number of females, wives and sisters of the adventurers, to soften and refine the rough community. The emigration of the other sex to California, instead of being discountenanced, as it is by some, ought to be favored by all who have the true prosperity of that territory at heart. California is, indeed, an outlet for poor and marriageable girls, which will prove a great social blessing to our great State. Hundreds of females, who would like good wives and mothers, but who now procure a precarious subsistence by the needle, and who have no prospect here of changing their condition for the better, might, by emigrating to the new provinces on the Pacific coast under proper auspices, exercise a highly beneficial influence there, while at the same time advancing their own comfort and happiness. The false shame which prevents many from undertaking this enterprise, is to be regretted: and will be a source of painful retrospection to them in after life.

THE LADIES FOR CALIFORNIA.—Mrs. Farnham, a lady who is preparing to convey to California a cargo of females, left New York yesterday for Boston, to complete her arrangements for the undertaking. The ship "Angelique" is the vessel engaged to transport this fair freight to the land of gold and silver.

MARRIAGE.—A gentleman, talking to a friend on the subject of marriage, made the following observation: "I first saw my wife in a storm; carried her to a ball in a storm; courted her in a storm; was published to her in a storm; married in a storm; lived in a storm; but, thank heaven, I buried her in pleasant weather."

NAVY.—We learn that the U. S. sloop of war St. Mary's will sail under the command of Commodore P. F. Voorhees, for Canton, touching at the Sandwich Islands, on the 14th inst. Commodore Voorhees proceeds in the St. Mary's to assume the command of the U. S. Naval Forces on the East India station. We have not yet received a full list of her officers, which, so soon as we may receive it we shall be happy to publish. Our merchants having remittances of specie or gold dust to make to any of the ports which the St. Mary's is to visit, will doubtless avail themselves of so favorable an opportunity.

Asolson, (bread baker,) was found on the "square" mighty drunk, dreadful wet, and most particularly noisy, pockets full of money, and heart full of gladness, said he had been to the river to take a bath, and then drank suddenly some brandy, which seemed to elevate him very considerably; walked up to the Capt. of Police's desk, asked the officers what they would have to drink; "walk up gentlemen, I've got plenty of money, and milk of human kindness enough in my bosom to wet nurse all California." Thos. was kept in the "School House" all night fined $1 and discharged.

James Shepard, Benj. Barry, Charles Perkins, John J. Waters, Andrew McCall Joseph Revy, Jacob Van Pelt, Daria Inloes, were arrested for stealing hardware, and are now in the School House awaiting their trial.

To the Editors of the Pacific News:
Under the head of Police Intelligence, reported for the Pacific News of the 2d inst., the death of John Brown, late a carpenter in the navy, is announced, accompanied by some remarks in general terms reflecting upon the humanity of the navy. Justice requires that your reporter should have stated on both occasions referred to in the Police reports, that the "Warren" was the only vessel of the United States near San Francisco, the rest of the squadron being at Benicia.

The following article relative to Capt. Sutter's first sight of the gold, has, perhaps, been published in most of the public prints both in this and foreign countries; but we extract it into the columns of the Pacific News, even at this late day, for the purpose of preserving it in our files as an interesting item connected with the first discovery of gold in California:

CAPTAIN SUTTER'S FIRST SIGHT OF THE GOLD.—"I was sitting one afternoon," said the captain, "just after my siesta, engaged, by the bye, in writing a letter to a relation of mine at Lucerne, when I was interrupted by Mr. Marshall—a gentleman with whom I had frequent business transactions—bursting hurriedly into the room. From the unusual agitation in his manner I imagined that something serious had occurred, and, as we involuntarily do in this part of the world, I at once glanced to see if my rifle was in its proper place. You should know that the mere appearance of Mr. Marshall at that moment in the fort was quite enough to surprise me, as he had but two days before left the place to make some alterations in a mill for sawing pine planks, which he had just run up for some miles higher up the Americanos. When he had recovered himself a little, he told me that however great my surprise might be at his unexpected appearance, it would be much greater when I heard the intelligence he had come to bring me. 'Intelligence,' he added, 'which, if properly profited by, would put both of us in possession of unheard-of wealth—millions and millions of dollars in fact.' I frankly own when I heard this, that I thought something had touched Marshall's brain, when suddenly all my misgivings were put an end to by his fingering on the table a handful of scales of pure virgin gold. I was fairly thunderstruck, and asked him to explain what all this meant, when he went on to say, that, according to my instructions he had thrown the mill wheel out of gear, to let the whole body of the water in the dam find a passage through the tail-race, which was previously too narrow to allow the water to run off in sufficient quantity, whereby the wheel was prevented from efficiently performing its work. By this alteration the narrow channel was considerably enlarged, and a mass of sand and gravel carried off by the force of the torrent. Early in the morning after this took place, he (Mr. Marshall) was walking along the left bank of the stream, when he perceived something which he at first took for a piece of opal—a clear transparent stone, very common here—glittering on one of the spots laid bare by the sudden crumbling away of the bank. He paid no attention to this; but while he was giving directions to the workmen, having observed several similar glittering fragments, his curiosity was so far excited that he stooped down and picked one of them up. 'Do you know,' said Mr. Marshall, 'I positively debated within myself two or three times whether I should take the trouble to bend my back to pick up one of the pieces, and had decided on not doing so, when, further on, another glittering morsel caught my eye—the largest of the pieces before you.—I descended to pick it up, and to my astonishment found that it was a thin scale of what appears to be pure gold.' He then gathered some twenty or thirty similar pieces, which on examination convinced him that his suppositions were right. His first impression was that this gold had been lost or buried there by some early Indian tribe—perhaps some mysterious inhabitants of the west, of whom we have no account, but who dwelt on this continent centuries ago, and built those cities and temples, the ruins of which are scattered about these solitary wilds. On proceeding, however, to examine the neighbouring soil, he discovered that it was more or less auriferous. This at once decided him. He mounted his horse and rode down to me as fast as it would carry him with the news."

Mr. Butler has closed her readings in New York, for the present, and is giving a series in Albany. Her receipts at the Stuyvesant Institute are estimated at eight thousand dollars.

ADVANTAGES OF A PIECE OF GOLD.—The New Bedford Mercury says:

Capt. Hoyer, who arrived here a day or two since from San Francisco, via Philadelphia, was the bearer of a piece of pure gold weighing nine and a half ounces, in its natural state as taken from the mines, valued at about $180. It is crescent shaped, about five inches in length and evidently of volcanic origin. It was accompanied by a letter of questionable chirography, which gave rise to a report that the precious ore had been sent home by a runaway whaler as a conciliatory offering to his shipmaster, Capt. Gardner of this port; and accordingly, after it had gratified the longing gaze of hundreds of our citizens, the gold and accompanying letter were sent to his house, and placed in the hands of his lady, the captain being still at sea.

In a pains-taking perusal of the letter, Mrs. Gardner discovered that it was addressed to Mr. Edmund Gardner, another valuable citizen, and after a farther public exhibition, both the letter and gold were transferred to its new-found destination, and the gold was again exhibited in a feeling of honest pride as a present to Mr. G. from an old and faithful family servant, but who had within the last twelve months, wended his way to the new El Dorado and had shared bountifully in its treasures—report says to the amount of more than $100,000.

A more thorough deciphering of the almost unintelligible letter, however, at length revealed the profound fact that the gold had been sent, bona fide, from the faithful attaché above alluded to, not however, as a present to his old master, but in trust, to be transmitted by him to some place in the western part of the Empire State for the use and behoof of certain relatives of the successful Californian; and it has been despatched accordingly.

English Mormons, some hundreds in number, left Swansea, England, for Liverpool on the last Tuesday of February, whence they were to sail for California, under the lead of their popular Saint, Dan Jones. They were mostly substantial farmers.

ALVISO.—The town of Alviso, situated at the head of the bay of San Francisco, will shortly be offered to the public in lots suitable for building purposes. The locality of this place possesses advantages of a nature so positive and apparent that a brief description must satisfy every one of the certainty of its becoming, ere long, a town of the highest importance. At the head of the great bay of San Francisco, on the Guadalupe river—a stream running directly through the centre of the town, and navigable at all seasons of the year to vessels drawing 12 feet of water—the depot and business headquarters of the two finest valleys in California—the Santa Clara and Pueblo—where everything required for their already numerous population, must be received; convenient of access to the gold mines, and directly on the route between them and San Francisco; with a climate unequalled even in Upper California; with pure water, free from inundations at all seasons; leagues of woodland within a convenient distance, with mills which even now furnish lumber at one-third the price in San Francisco. The town of Alviso must grow into importance. The wants of the extensive country around, constantly increasing, require a commercial town at this point—the only one where such a town can be located.

The place will be immediately surveyed and laid out into lots of convenient size, by O. S. Lyman, Esq., surveyor, and maps will be published for the inspection of the public as soon as practicable. Contracts have been entered into for the erection of warehouses and buildings, and a substantial bridge is now being erected, connecting the two portions of the town. The title is perfect and indisputable, having been derived directly from the Mexican government, to persons who have since resided on the premises for nearly twelve years. Persons desiring to purchase will have preference in choice of lots in the order of the reception of their names by the undersigned. Address, post paid, J. D. HOPPE,

THE CITY OF SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO.

The undersigned beg leave to inform the public that a survey of the city of south San Francisco has just been completed, and a map of the city is now to be seen at the store of De Boom, Vigneaux & Grisar, at Clay street.

The site is located on the Bay of San Francisco, two miles southerly of the city of San Francisco, and in plain sight of the shipping in the harbor.

The same depth of water which is found in the harbor of the city of San Francisco, is to be found in the harbor of the city of south San Francisco and along the bay between the two harbors.

The harbor is more securely protected from the wind than the harbor of the city of San Francisco, and ships of the heaviest burden may lay within a boats length of the land at many points, and quite close generally along the whole front of the city, affording the best facilities for discharging cargo.

The land rises in a gentle slope from the water, and is composed of a rich clay soil.

There are extensive stone quarries, and springs of fine running water are found on the face of the hill in many places.

The character of the soil always keeps the air free from dust or sand; the surrounding scenery is highly picturesque, and a more pleasant place for residences, or a more convenient place for business is not to be found on the bay.

A stream of the finest water in California, and sufficient in quantity to water both cities, and all the shipping that ever may lay in their harbors, forms the northern boundary of the city, and will be conducted into a reservoir for such purposes.

The only practicable route for a good road from the city of San Francisco to San Jose, will pass through south San Francisco, crossing the mouth of Mission creek and the mouth of the creek just alluded to.

From San Francisco to San Jose and Monterey is one of the best natural roads in the world, and passing on this road from south San Francisco, you travel along a beautiful valley of hard grass land to the Puertuelo, a distance of less than 20 miles.

Persons desirous of seeing the city will find the Mission about half way.

It is but a short ride—go out and see for yourselves, and if you wish to purchase lots that will shortly arise in value those of the city of San Francisco, call on the subscribers at the store of De Boom, Vigneaux & Grisar.

JOHN TOWNSEND,
CORNELL DE BOOM.

P. S. On the first day of October the price of lots will be raised from one hundred dollars to one hundred and fifty dollars.

DEB'S MEDICINES AND PAINTS.

D. D. BRYAN & CO., respectfully give notice to the public that they have opened a store for the transaction of the above business, at Sacramento city, on 24 street, between J. and K. streets, and will at all times keep on hand a large and complete stock as can be found in California. The selection of medicines has been made with the utmost care, and the genuineness and purity of the articles will be guaranteed. Particular attention paid to orders from the mines, and from physicians, and prescriptions put up in the most careful manner.

G. H. BEACH, General Commission Agent for the Tri-Weekly Mail Packet Line, on the rivers San Joaquin and Sacramento.

Those seeking passage and shipping freight will find advantages by this line, being made up of 7 the finest and fastest sailing American clipper built schooners, which number enables us to send a vessel as often as every other day.

The subscriber has just received per shipments from the States, a very general invoice of clothing, groceries, provisions, tin, wood and hardware, drugs, patent medicines, paints of all colors in oil and dry, English boiled oil, leads in oil, putty, turpentine, varnishes, brushes, glue, chalk, lamp black, cut bedsteads, ready made doors, and sash with glass sets, chairs, tents, barley, flour, hemp and Manila rope.

As also, another invoice of that never failing remedy for Chill and Fever, intermittent, and all other bilious diseases, Osgood's India Colagogue. Remember, the genuine article that has cured so many cases without one failure is Osgood's India Colagogue, (not Canehalagna.)

Goods retailed to Families, Miners and Mariners.

CAUTION.

Whereas, one J. A. Sutter has published a notice, in which he claims title to the land on the east bank of the Sacramento river, between the Feather river and the American Fork, I hereby notify the public that I am the only legal owner of the said land, under a warranty deed from J. A. Sutter himself, dated Aug. 10, 1843; and I therefore caution all persons that no legal title can be acquired to the same, or to any portion thereof, except through me. Justice to myself requires me to add that I shall hold the said J. A. Sutter legally responsible, both for the libel on my character, and the slander of my title, which his notice contains; and that if his publication is the result of a conspiracy to defraud me of my property, I shall take care that the offenders be brought to justice as soon as a criminal court before which they can be tried, is legally organized in this territory.

Any person desiring to satisfy himself of my title to the above land, is invited to call on S. Brannan & Co., at Sacramento City, or on the undersigned, at the counting room of E. Mickle & Co., Clay street wharf, San Francisco.
